Is Your Phone Really Smart?

"Give me a plug and I will control the world"

Is your phone really Smart? If you are not using your phone to check how your site is performing, it is not really a smart phone. We live in an age of cloud computing where you can track and log all data from your solar site and be able to view this information from home or remotely. Whether you are down the street or in another country you can receive fault warnings and reports so you can ensure all your systems are producing at maximum output. Maximize your phones' potential by having a SolarVu energy portal on your solar PV sites TODAY.
